

ABSTRACT

A method and system for managing traffic in multi-carrier wireless communications systems is disclosed in which a paging channel of an overlay carrier frequency cell in the multi-carrier wireless communication system is eliminated. A sync channel of the overlay frequency cell is modified to direct idle mobile units served by the overlay carrier frequency cell to monitor a paging channel of an underlying carrier frequency cell. A traffic allocation algorithm is used to assign a traffic channel carrier frequency to the mobile units.